Dear The Federal Communications Commission,

I just learned that the FCC is proposing a plan that will result in my having to pay more than my fair share of phone charges.

I am a widow, living on a very small income and cannot afford to keep paying more and more to have a phone. I don't understand why big business is constantly favored and the burden shifted to older people like me who have no way of increasing my income.

I understand that under the flat fee plan you are considering, people like me who seldom make long distance calls would pay the same as people or businesses that make many calls. I believe it would be unfair to charge low-volume and residential customers the same fees as high-volume residential or business customers.

I urge you to keep the USF fair, and adopt the Fair Share Plan.

Thank you, and best of luck in your new position.
